Five Reasons to Get Involved!

What if you could help your child enjoy school more, get better grades, and reduce behavior problems at the same time? Reams of research has shown that regardless of parents' income and educational background, their involvement in education helps their kids do better in and out of school.

Parent involvement can be as simple as helping with math homework or reading a book together at bedtime. Going to parent-teacher conferences is important, but taking the family to the school spaghetti supper makes a difference, too. More involvement is better, but you don't have to be president of the PTA or run the school carnival. As long as your actions show that you value education, your child is likely to respond. Here are just a few of the reasons you should get involved in your child's education:

Higher grades. Kids whose parents are involved in their education get better grades and have higher test scores. And the more parents are involved, the more their children seem to benefit. A study of parents highly involved in the educational process showed that their children were more likely to improve in reading and math.

Better behavior. Kids develop better social skills and show improved behavior when their parents are involved at school. Studies have also shown that kids are less likely to skip school, less disruptive in class, and more likely to do their homework when their parents are involved. One study showed that when dads are highly involved in schools, their children enjoy school more and are less likely to be suspended, expelled, or required to repeat a grade.

Improved education. Research shows that parent involvement can help improve the quality of schools, raise teacher morale, and improve a school's reputation in the community. Involved parents gain the respect of teachers; as a result, teachers have higher expectations of their children. Involvement pays off in the long term, too: Children stay in school longer and are more likely to continue their education after high school.

Increased confidence. When students feel supported at home and school, they develop more positive attitudes about school, have more self-confidence, and place a higher priority on academic achievement. Children of involved parents are more likely to feel that they're accepted, included, and respected at school.

Parents benefit, too. When parents become involved in their children's education, they become more comfortable in the school building, gain confidence in their parenting skills, and feel more capable of helping their children learn. They're also more likely to continue their own education.

Involvement is easy. You don't have to log hundreds of volunteer hours for your child to benefit. Even if you can only volunteer a few hours a year, every little bit counts. If you're ready to do more, your school's parent-teacher group can help you find ways to get involved that fit both your schedule and your interests.

Mabry Thanks Our Troops

The Mabry community recently participated in radio station Q100's Bert's Big Thank You. The goal of the station's campaign was to send 400,000 letters to US troops on Thanksgiving to show appreciation for their service to our country. Mabry decided to participate, and the enthusiasm of our students and staff was evident throughout the school. Bulletin boards were made, videos produced and letters written. Our goal was to write 1,000 letters. When the final count was taken we had 1,308 letters. The Marietta Daily Journal featured our efforts in an article celebrating our success. The show of patriotism by our community was overwhelming. Mabry's heart keeps beating. Thank you, Ms. Mummert, Ms. Nielsen and Ms. Israel, for organizing. To view the video, please visit <http://cobbcast.cobbk12.org/?p=3790>.

Partners-in-Education Spotlight: Workout Anytime

We would like to introduce our newest Partner in Education, Workout Anytime, a new business located in the shopping center at the intersection of Johnson Ferry and Shallowford roads. They will be providing physical and health support for our teachers and students during activities such as The Biggest Loser contest and our Mabry Fun Run. General Manager Alicia Hill would like to invite interested individuals to find out more about their business at www.workoutanytime.com.

Important 8th Grade Dates

- December 9 Cobb County Magnet Applications Due
- January 18 8th Grade Writing Test
- January 19 "Realities of Rigor: Understanding Honors Classes" at 6:30pm at LHS
- March 8 Eighth Grade Parent Night at LHS

Attention: Eighth Grade Parents

During connections classes on December 20-21, guest speakers from The Cobb County Commission on Youth will address our 8th grade students and present the P.L.A.N. curriculum, an abstinence-based curriculum aimed at helping teens understand that abstinence until marriage is the best option. Please sign and return the permission form that will be coming home soon. Parents who wish to preview the curriculum before granting permission will be able to do so on Wednesday, December 7, and Thursday, December 8, from 4:15-5:15 p.m. in the Health room. Please direct any questions to Mr. Graber at james.graber@cobbk12.org.

Canned Food Drive

Student Forum has extended the Canned Food Drive to December 16. There is a competition for the home-room in each grade level that collects the most cans. The winning home-room will earn a breakfast party.

Yearbooks on Sale

Don't miss out on special memories! Yearbooks are still for sale, but now the price is $30. To order, make your check payable to Mabry Middle School and include your child's name and homeroom teacher on the check. Students should place the money in a white money envelope labeled "Yearbook" in the grade-level money deposit box. Don't wait any longer... reserve your copy today!

Important Band Date

December 8: 6th Grade Band Winter Concert at 7:00 p.m. Students report at 6:00 p.m. dressed in black pants, black socks, black dress shoes and the Mabry Band T-shirt.

The Twelve Days of Reading

The Media Center is sponsoring the Twelve Days of Reading contest among homerooms during December 6-22 (twelve school days).

For every 100 pages read, a jingle bell will be placed in the jar labeled for that homeroom. Jars will be displayed in the showcase outside the Media Center. Students can monitor their homeroom's status by viewing the jars and the closed-circuit announcements and by checking the Media Center blog each day.

The homeroom in each grade level that has read the most pages by noon December 22 will receive breakfast courtesy of the Media Center. Breakfast will be served on a date after the holiday break.

How many total pages will Mabry students and homeroom teachers read? Make your guess, and place it in the box in the Media Center. The student and teacher in each grade level whose guesses come closest to the actual number of pages read win a free book.

Contest guidelines:

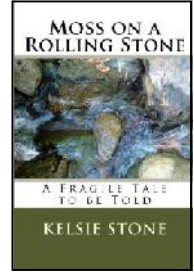

- Students must properly record and verify their reading on a reading log. Students should be able to show teachers their logs when requested to do so.
- Homeroom teachers may participate with their homerooms, and must properly log their reading also.
- Homeroom teachers should record the pages read by students in their homeroom each day.
- Homeroom teachers must e-mail the total number of pages to Ms. Hendrix by noon each day. Late "pages read" e-mails will not be accepted.
- Pages read from December 6-22 ONLY are eligible for the contest.

Happy Reading!

Mabry Student Hits New Milestone!

Looking for something to read during The Twelve Days of Reading? Check out a book of poems from one of Mabry's very own! Moss on a Rolling Stone: A Fragile Tale to be Told, by Kelsie Stone, a Mabry 8th grade student, is available at Amazon.com. A collection of forty deep and thought-provoking poems compiled from her poetry journal, Kelsie did all the formatting, typing, designing, etc., for the book, quite an ambitious undertaking! Although her personal life is full of joy and incredible happiness, her writing touches on heavier subjects, expressing anguish and pain, forgiveness, regret, love, brokenness, and a darkness that she has never felt, but manages to eloquently express through some deep-reaching empathy. Kelsie says, "My gift is to see the pain in the world and express it with redemption's light filtered in. Hopelessly in step with humanity, Moss on a Rolling Stone is a poetic continuum through fragile words and fragments of a tale told throughout the ages—that of humanity needing God." Since the compiling of her book, Kelsie has written twenty to thirty more poems and intends to release more books of poetry and fiction/historical-fiction genres. Congratulations, Kelsie, on realizing your dream. We look forward to future publications!

Student Forum News

Student Forum is bustling with activity this holiday season with The Giving Tree. Students have created a paper tree, located on the wall in the skylight area, with paper cut "leaves" that have been passed out to every teacher. Whenever teachers see a random act of kindness from one student to another, they are to write what happened on the leaf and drop it in a designated box. Student Forum members collect these leaves and pin them to the tree. At the end of the month, all students mentioned on the leaves receive a small prize and a few will be picked at random to get larger prizes. It's a great way to foster an atmosphere of generosity and benevolence. Student Forum is also raising money through Chik-fil-A and candy cane sales to help fund a school betterment project to be determined at a later date. Several other projects are running in the background, thanks to our fabulous teacher sponsors, Ms. Suggs and Ms. Shively.

'Tis the Season to Join PTSA!

During this holiday season, we would like to thank you for joining PTSA and for helping us earn both district and state recognition for the success of our fall membership drive. The East Cobb County Council of PTAs will be providing our faculty and staff with breakfast on December 12 for being one of nine schools in our council to have 100% participation from our faculty and staff. If you did not have a chance to join, it is not too late! We would love to have 100% participation from our families as well. National Junior Honor Society Welcomes New Inductees

The 2011-12 Induction Ceremony for the National Junior Honor Society (NJHS) was held on November 9 in the Mabry Theater followed by a reception for students and their parents in the media center. The ceremony was led by faculty sponsors, Ms. Albertson and Ms. Blevins, as well as club officers: Emilee Olsen, president; Amanda Hoarell, vice president; Kar Shin Lin, secretary; and Jon Anderson, chairman. Thank you to Ms. Hendrix, Ms. Hiss, Ms. Hoarell, and Ms. Anderson for helping to set up for the event.

NJHS is one of the nation's premier organizations established to recognize outstanding middle school students. More than just an honor roll, NJHS serves to honor those students who have demonstrated excellence in the areas of Scholarship, Leadership, Service, Citizenship, and Character. To be selected for the Mabry chapter of NJHS, students must be on Principal's Honor Roll for three consecutive grading periods and have a conduct grade of an S. Once inducted, students meet the second Thursday of each month and are required to complete monthly community service hours. The chapter assisted with Charger Day, sponsored a snack drive for Powers Ferry Elementary School, and volunteers throughout the year to help teachers and staff as needed.

LJTD Team Performs at Fit Fest

The Lassiter Jr. Trojan Dance Team was honored to be chosen to perform at the First Annual Atlanta Fall Fit Fest on October 15. The Fit Fest was held at the Georgia International Convention Center and was hosted by America's dance fitness guru, Stepp Stewart. The girls performed their pom and hip-hop routines and then led the crowd in dancing with other performers. Other celebrities included Dr. Oz, Frando Dinten from the NBC hit show, The Biggest Loser, and former Miss Fitness America, MaDonna Grimes. It was a great day for all who attended.

LJTD Team Hosts KSU Spirit Squad at the GMSAA Games

The Lassiter Jr. Trojan Dance Team hosted the Kennesaw State University (KSU) dance team and cheerleaders at the GMSAA Championship and All-Star Games on November 19. The girls had the opportunity to learn more about each other and what it takes to be on college teams. In turn, our girls taught the KSU squad a routine which they performed together on the Lassiter field during half-time. Even Scrapy (the KSU mascot) got in on the act!

A Heartfelt Thanks from LJTD Team

The Lassiter Jr. Trojan Dance Team would like to thank everyone who helped support our fundraising for the Atlanta Affiliate of the Susan G. Komen Breast Cancer Foundation. With your help and generous donations, we exceeded our goal and raised a total of $560 toward finding a cure and eradicating breast cancer.

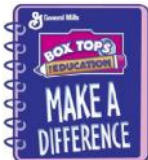

PJ Day at Mabry

On November 11, Mabry students slept in a few extra minutes because they got to wear their PJs to school. Students paid $1 to sport their favorite cozy pajamas, plush robes and fuzzy slippers. The fundraiser as well as Chick-fil-A biscuit sales in November benefitted the United Way.
